

All That Dance Studio has two dance companies-a competition and performing arts troupe for students, ages 7 and up, and a professional dance company. The Xquisite Youth Dance Company was formed for students who want to perform, compete, and love to dance. To become a team member, a dancer must audition, be committed, and possess a positive attitude. Upon selection, company dancers must enroll in both ballet and jazz classes. The dancers must possess strong dance technique, be energetic, and willing to meet the challenges as a team dancer. In addition, the company dancers must attend weekly company classes, summer repertory classes, and master teachers' classes or workshops. Each company dancer will have the opportunity to perform in at least one competition and they will perform for community events during the year. Two production numbers will be choreographed for the company dancers, which the dancers will perform in the annual holiday show in December and for the recital. In addition, the company dancers will showcase their pieces at the studio's Spring Gala. Many of the teen and advanced company dancers will have the opportunity to perform in the Miss America's Show Us Your Shoes Parade, held in Atlantic City, and perform in the Miss Cumberland County Pageant.

The Omni Contemporary Dance Company is a professional dance company, based in South Jersey. The company supports the choreographic vision and work of its artistic director, Meredith Shaw. These talented dancers will infuse ballet, modern, tap, and jazz dance styles, which include, but is not limited to social issues, visual art, literature, and historical events. Its mission is to provide a high quality dance education with performance to audiences and it will promote, encourage, and increase awareness and appreciation for the arts. The Omni Contemporary Dance Company's vision is to educate the Delaware Valley with its artistic contemporary dance excellence by commissioning the works of emerging local and national choreographers and to present works to diverse communities. OCDC accomplishes this through its educational outreach programs which include performances, workshops, residencies, lectures, and demonstrations. Many of its dancers share their love and knowledge of dance with the students at its affiliated school, All That Dance Studio.

Members of the Omni Contemporary Dance Company perform in All That Dance Studio's Christmas Show, Whoville.
